Figure 5.15: The linear regression model expresses the response variable Y in terms of the conditional mean function—the line in the figure—and input-independent random variation around the conditional mean.